

Message from the Managing Director

Dear Scholastica Community,

As we draw the curtains on another vibrant academic year, I want to take this opportunity to extend my heartfelt congratulations to all our students, teachers, staff, and parents for a year full of learning, creativity, and accomplishment.

This year has been marked by tremendous energy, achievement, and growth across our campuses despite a traumatic and harrowing start to the year. Despite the challenges and the difficult start, we have achieved so much – from academic milestones to sporting victories, from stage performances to science fairs, our students have engaged with passion and purpose. We are proud not only of their successes but also of the values and skills they continue to develop as they grow into thoughtful, capable young individuals.

We've also made significant progress in enhancing our campuses and educational offerings. Here are some highlights of the development work we undertook this year:

- We relocated our Junior Dhanmondi campus, and are proud of the beautiful new environment we are now offering our youngest learners. The campus has quickly settled into a smooth rhythm, and we are thrilled to see students thriving in the new space.
- Our Class V classrooms received a much-needed upgrade, with new student furniture, improved storage, and a refreshed look. These changes have created a more welcoming and engaging learning environment.
- Renovations in our high school bathrooms have been underway, and we are pleased with the cleaner, fresher facilities that are now available to our students.
- Security has been strengthened with the installation of more CCTV cameras in the public areas of the ground floors of both high schools. These enhancements extend coverage and improve video quality, supporting our ongoing commitment to student safety.
- We launched new Design and Media labs in both high schools, alongside upgrades to the IT labs. These facilities support our recently introduced Technology and Media curriculum, which has already allowed students to explore robotics, design, programming, and animation using modern software and hardware.

As we look ahead to the new school year, we remain committed to innovation, safety, and excellence in education. We are excited to build on the strong foundation we have laid over the years, and look forward to even more collaboration, creativity, and community in the months to come.

Thank you for your continued support and trust. I wish you all a joyful, restful, and safe summer holiday.

Yours sincerely,

Madiha Murshed

O Level Batch 2018
Senior Campus, Mirpur

Ulviya's Journey to UWC

Ulviya's interest in UWC began in seventh grade when a flyer on a bulletin board caught her eye. Inspired by the idea of breaking barriers through education, she researched UWC and watched YouTube videos of students sharing their experiences. Seeing how UWC aligned with her passion for global education and social change, she decided to apply and later completed two years of high school at UWC Atlantic in Wales, UK.

Application Process

For her application, Ulviya submitted academic records, honors and extracurricular certificates, recommendation letters, and a personal statement. She noted, "I genuinely do not think one specific extracurricular or a set list of extracurricular activities matter. In a place like UWC, there is an emphasis on individuality instead of a herd mentality, and to achieve this, they look for personality and your potential. If your extracurriculars show curiosity or passion towards something, no matter how niche or mainstream, you are more than enough."

When asked if top grades were necessary, Ulviya stressed that academic excellence alone is not a requirement. Instead, UWC values progress, effort, and a genuine love for learning. As the IB curriculum is rigorous, the school seeks students who can handle academic challenges while adapting to a new environment with resilience and growth. She added that while grades may not be perfect, applicants should focus on their overall journey and commitment to learning. UWC prioritizes individuals dedicated to personal and academic development who aim to make a positive impact.

Interview Process

Reflecting on the application process, Ulviya shared, "I did not encounter any major difficulties in submitting my application for UWC, but I was definitely overwhelmed at times. The process was demanding (with good reason), and I had to balance multiple responsibilities simultaneously. However, staying organized and starting early helped me manage everything effectively."

The interview process included a group activity and individual interviews. Engaging with other applicants and hearing their aspirations reinforced her desire to be part of such a diverse community. Though she knew many of the applicants, this experience revealed new aspects of their personalities, deepening her respect for them.

Ulviya admitted, "For me, the interview itself was the most nerve-racking aspect of the process. I wanted to present an honest version of myself and effectively convey my desire to help the world. At sixteen, I didn't have all the details figured out, but sharing my dreams and finding my voice was important, so I made it a priority. If you do not know who you are yet, show them that you are on the journey of discovering yourself."

Worried about having the "right" answers, she prepared extensively but soon realized the interview was not just about knowledge. UWC sought candidates who could represent their country and demonstrate awareness of global events. She was asked about Bangladesh, global issues, and her personal aspirations-challenging questions that helped the board understand her interests.

Her advice to applicants: be authentic and embrace the experience. She emphasized that perfection isn't necessary-what matters is demonstrating the ability to think under pressure, which reveals true character.

Attending UWC

Having lived in Scotland before, Ulviya was familiar with British weather and culture, but living alone for the first time brought new challenges. Initially, the excitement of meeting new people and tackling academic demands overshadowed any difficulties. However, as the weather worsened and coursework intensified, she began missing the comforts of home, including family support and home-cooked meals. Over time, she built strong bonds with her peers, who became like family. She even tried recreating familiar dishes like Khichuri to cope with homesickness. She reflected that, while the experience was different from what she was used to, it became her new normal -one she wouldn't trade for anything. Her two years in Wales were filled with highs and lows, but she learned that personal growth requires challenges and self-reflection. Living independently at a young age fostered adaptability and resilience, skills that continue to benefit her.

In her words, "I am really grateful for the time I had in UWC Atlantic, as I was able to create some of my best memories and experience personal growth that shaped me into the person I am today. I am excited for everyone applying and hope you too can learn to love and appreciate the mission the way UWCers do!"

Advice for Students

"Do not let the fear of rejection keep you from applying. You are worthy of success and growth no matter what, and the application process itself can help you grow in many ways. While UWC was incredibly special to me, I was willing to go to any lengths to fulfill my ambitions, whether or not I was accepted. So, give it your best and submit an application you are proud of."

She encouraged applicants to be authentic, prepare early, research thoroughly, ask questions, and maintain a positive mindset. She stressed the importance of presenting one's true self, planning ahead to avoid last-minute stress, and embracing the journey, regardless of the outcome.

At Present

Ulviya attended the University of Texas at Austin and graduated with a Bachelor of Arts with Honours in 2023. She double majored in International Relations and Global Studies, and Asian Studies.

In May 2025, Ulviya graduated in Master of Public Affairs from Brown University.

Annual Drama of Junior Campuses of Gulshan and Banani was featured on Duronto TV.
